About IIITB

The International Institute of Information Technology, Bangalore, popularly known as IIITB, is located in a lush green campus creating a peaceful, friendly and ideal environment for students. Established in 1999 , the Institute provides world-class education and training to meritorious students from diverse backgrounds and has a vision to contribute to the IT world. The Institute, due to its unique manner of education, research and industry interaction is one of the most reputable engineering institutions in the country. The sincerity, dedication and the urge to deliver the maximum by students has been one of the reasons for our tremendous success . We strive to create a culture that provides a holistic development that is on par with the finest educational institutions.

About Infin8

Infin8 is the annual cultural-tech fest of IIIT Bangalore. A three day fest organized by the students of IIITB, we aim to bring science to students through fun. In 'Rhythm' and 'Whip and Nae-Nae' for the singers and dancers, we have coding and gaming events. We have 'League of Fanatics', a pop quiz for the ones who stay up all night binge watching TV shows and movies. Not just that, there is photography and literary art competitions for the gifted artists.

Unlike the previous years, this year we are going inter-collegiate, and accepting sponsorships. With larger events, a bigger and better Infin8 will raise spirits and bring out the best in us. With so much fun and scope of learning, wouldn't you want to be a part of it? Join us and grow with us.

(Literary Arts)

Think you're creative and loquacious enough to just write about any funky topic? The gist is simple. You'll be shown a picture, anything from a meme template to an ice-cream, and you have to express your thoughts, on how you visualize it, in the most creative way possible.

Through the Lens (Photography)

It's funny how a photograph is omnipotent than a story of 1000 words. The unspoken message behind the photograph is what makes it extraordinary. Contestants are required to take pictures of any event or scene that they find worthy of being captured. The pictures have to be taken within the college premises. Cameras are expected to be brought by the contestants.

Rhythm (Music)

Chant out some insane sound waves that makes the mass go 'skraa pap pap'. "Rhythm" is a music band event and unquestionably a crowd-pleaser. The participants are required to bring their own instruments.

The Larynx (Debate)

Everyone has their own viewpoint and we would love to discover yours. Participants are expected to come with a team of 2. One of the teammates should represent one side of the coin and the other represents the other side of the coin.

League of Fanatics (Pop Quiz)

For all the couch potatoes who stay up all night binge-watching them movies and TV series, here's your chance to shine. Participating teams will go through various rounds in which their knowledge of comics/movies/TV-series are tested in a fun and interactive ways.

Trick-or-Treat (Fine Arts)

3-dimensional portrait on a 2-dimensional sheet. Doesn't that seem challenging enough? Participate and deceit us to conquer!

Shipwreck (Speaking Arts)

You are a renowned celebrity stuck in a sinking ship named 'Titanic' (for historical reasons). Sadly, there are only 2 life-jackets of which 1 belongs to the captain, of course. Justify why YOU must get the chance to outlive thousands of people on the ship. Why does the world need you? Can you explain your purpose of life? Earn the lifejacket and you earn our respect!

Time to "run" (Coding)

Rack up your brains for "just another Codeforces round" to compete against the best coders. Are you logically able enough to win Competitive Programming round? It all lies in your hands, literally.

Whip and Nae-Nae (Group dance)

Astonishing steps, physics-defying motion and sweat-breaking moves with at most team coordination are what we are looking for. adapting to the situation the judges throw brings up the best of the dancers that Infin8 can see.

The Disciplined Bot (Robotics)

An autonomous robot who has to just "follow" one mission in his bot-lasting-life, a black line. Meh, let's add a twist. The robot also must keep track of directions while going through a maze. It must analyse the path in the dry run and go through the maze, again, in the minimum possible time.

Now that you've got a sneek-peek into the events we planned to host in Infin8-2018, we'd like to address the serious question of, "What's in it for me?".

The following pages provide an answer to the aforementioned question and we hope to see you involved with us, in this memorable journey of making Infin8-2018 touch the doorsteps of triumph.
